PDP honors Academy Masters

1) Draft PDP
When you apply to the Honors Academy, you have to write a draft of your PDP. In this draft you explain:

- What you want to learn and develop during the honors program, both professionally and personally.
- You discuss the above in terms of (academic) knowledge, skills and mind set and you explain why you need these developments or why you want to develop this knowledge, skills and mindset.

2) 1st version of your PDP
When you are admitted to the honors academy, you will start with The Personal Leadership Experience. Towards the end of this course, you will hand in the 1st version of your PDP. Therefore you can update your draft PDP with:
- Your Mission Statement (as explained during the PLE)
- Your learning goals, which will help you to apply your Mission Statement both in the short term as well as in the long term
- Your honors project proposal, explaining how you will achieve your learning goals.
- An explanation of how you will use your guidelines to successfully meet your learning goals (as explained during the PLE)

3) 2nd version of your PDP
When you have finished your honors project, you have to update the 1st version of your PDP as a preparation of your examination.
You update your PDP by explaining:
- What you did in your honors project(s) to achieve your learning goals as described in your 1st version. This has to be done extensively; explain what you’ve done during your project, what worked and what didn’t. reflect on what you have learned because of this.
- What you have learned from your project(s) in terms of knowledge, skills and mind set.
- What you have learned from applying your guidelines,
- Relate the results to your Missions Statement and the application of your guidelines.

The 2nd version of your PDP will serve as the basis for your final honors presentation in which you’ll be graded for both the PLE and your honors project.
